With driving conditions hazardous because of slippery roads and heavy fog, at least 20 persons died in traffic and other accidents in Ohio over the week-end, the state's heaviest week-end toll in several months.

While seven of the deaths were in northeastern Ohio, only three persons were hurt, none seriously, in Mansfield and Richland county.

A week-old accident, however, claimed the life of John M. Irwin, 54 Akron Boy Scout leader, who died Saturday night in Mansfield General hospital. He was injured Nov. 10 in a traffic crash on route 30-N west of Mansfield.

Five of the Ohio victims were struck down by automobiles as they crossed streets or walked along highways.

2 Hurt As Cars Collide.

In Mansfield, Miss Sarah Simpson, R. D. 1, and Charles McMillen, 42, of 310 Hedges street, were injured when two cars collided about 7 p. m. Sunday near the temporary bridge on North Main street.

Howard Booth, Mansfield, was treated for bruises after he was knocked down by a car at Bowman and Harker streets at 9:15 p. m. Sunday. Wilbur Butts, 169 Burns street, was the driver of the car, police said.

Miss Simpson and McMillen were hurt in other accident received head and face cuts. McMillen was treated at General hospital and Miss Simpson by a physician. Miss Simpson was riding with Dale Lutz.

Widowers Scarce, Widows Do Their Best To Snare 'Em

DALLAS — (AP) — Widowers can stop blushing everytime a good looking widow smiles at them.

Widowers are in demand in this land of the free.

The paucity of widowers was described by Mrs. Nelle Brook Stull of Ellyria, O., president of the National Widows and Widowers club, which claims a membership of 250,000 marriageable Americans.

In California there is an acute shortage of widowers. Mrs. Stull explained. Los Angeles has seven widows to one widower. Other states have a smaller ratio.

Texas is one of the few states where widows and widowers are about evenly divided.

"Of course," explained Mrs. Stull, who is married to a steel executive, "every woman wants to get married. I speak from my experience with them. They start by telling me what kind of husband they want, but wind up by taking what they can get, usually."

EX-KAISER SAFE

Narrowly Escapes Death or Injury In Storm at Doorn.

LONDON — (AP) — Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany narrowly escaped death or injury yesterday while walking in the park surrounding his estate, a Reuters dispatch from Doorn, Holland, said today.

The report said that three giant trees, uprooted by a storm, crashed within 50 feet of the exiled ex-kaiser.

REDUCING HINT

Pig Spends 10 Weeks In Drain Pipe; Drops From 125-45 Pounds.

LOGANSPOUT, Ind. — (AP) — Ten weeks in a drain pipe proved an effective weight reducer for Richard Waddup's pig.

The pig weighed 125 pounds when it vanished in September. It weighed only 45 pounds when found caught in the pipe.

2 Held for Grand Jury In Kidnaping

Mansfielder And Former Convict Bound Over On Armed Robbery Charge.

Two men, one a paroled convict, who allegedly kidnaped a Mansfield man Saturday night and at the point of a gun forced him to drive into the country where they robbed him; were held in the county jail today awaiting grand jury action on charges of armed robbery.

They are George Fancher, 39, Mansfield, and Earl S. Montgomery, 45, Zanesville. They were arrested in Marion shortly after they had released Harold J. Stauffer, 35 Wolfe avenue, on a lonely stretch of road on route 19 south of Bucyrus.

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch bound both over to the grand jury under bonds of $2,500 each. Fancher pleaded guilty. Montgomery entered an innocent plea, waived preliminary examination and asked to be bound to the jury.

Kidnaped Entering Car.

The men are accused of kidnaping Stauffer, a clerk at the Bismann company, as he was about to enter his car on North Diamond street about 7 p. m. Saturday.

Stauffer told authorities they forced him to drive west on U. S. route 30 S. South of Bucyrus then robbed him of his watch and $1 and later forced him from the car, the clerk said.

Stauffer made his way to a nearby farmhouse and called Sheriff Arthur French of Crawford county.

The pair was picked up by state highway patrolmen and Marion police near a Marion night club as they were about to enter Stauffer's car. Stauffer's billfold containing $115 which he had secreted in the car was recovered and his watch was found at a pawnshop where the men had disposed of it, officers said.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said Montgomery was on parole from the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus where he had been sentenced to serve a term for burglary.

COOGAN TO WED

Jackie Announces He'll Marry New York Skating Actress.

Jackie Coogan, grown-up child screen star who appeared in Mansfield last week with the stage show, "What A Life," announced yesterday during his Ft. Wayne engagement that his future plans include marriage to a young actress.

Coogan told an Associated Press representative that as soon as his divorce from Betty Grable, screen actress, becomes final in ten months he would marry Miss Harriet Haddon in New York City.

Miss Haddon, who is 21, has played small picture roles and at present is with an ice skating show at the St. Regis hotel in New York City.

Coogan, who plans a stage career, was divorced from Betty Grable two months ago. Miss Grable announced her intentions to wed again immediately after receiving her divorce.

JAIL GUARDSMEN

Quintet Subject To Court Martial For Failure To Report.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Five Ohio National Guardsmen were under arrest today, charged with desertion because of their failure to report for the general mobilization Nov. 11. They are subject to court martial. Those arrested are Leonard Blackowski, 22; Louis Valla, 18; John Mahner, 26; Robert Hodgson, 22, and Hugo Renke, 28.

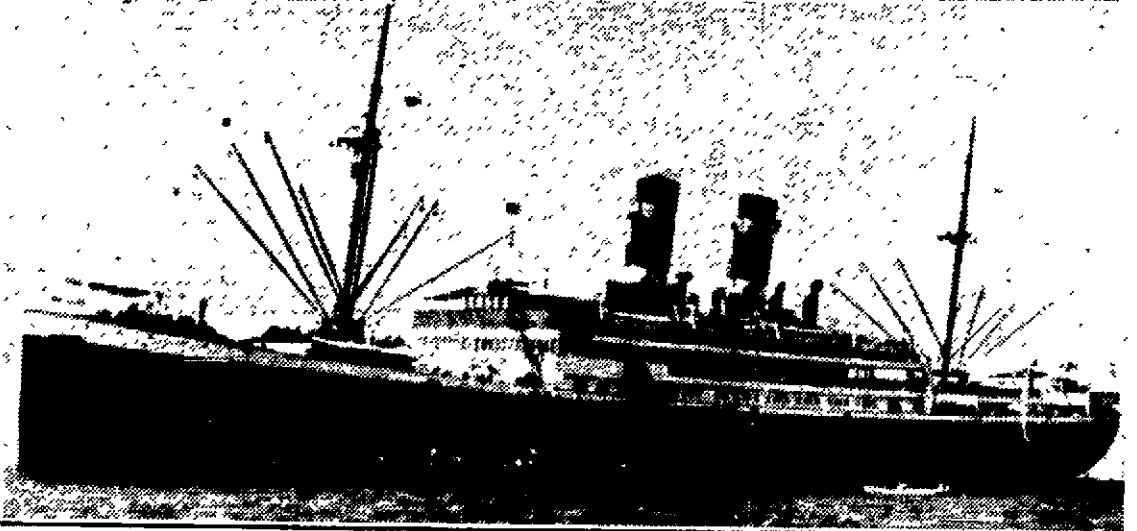

TRUCK PLUNGES

Freight Vehicle Runs Wild, Falls Into River Near Fremont.

FREMONT — (AP) — A truck loaded with nine tons of freight got out of control here today, dashed down a hill crashing a traffic light, and plunged 20 feet over an embankment into the Sandusky river.

The truck crew, Clarence Ashbee, 24, and Joe Mitchell, 22, both of Akron, were taken to a hospital suffering cuts and bruises.

Seeking to Forget Horrors of Ship Blast

Survivors of the blast which sank the Dutch liner Simon Bolivar (lower photo), these injured passengers and crew members in Bartholomew hospital, Harwich, England, try to take their minds off the scenes of horror by playing cards. Nearly 140 persons perished as the 7,906-ton vessel plunged to the bottom of the North sea sixteen miles off Harwich after two terrific mine explosions. She was bound for New York with approximately 230 passengers and 170 crew members. Photo flashed by radio from London to New York.

CHARGES KUHN PLANNED FLIGHT

Defense Witness Says Bund Leader Was Sure He'd Be Convicted at N. Y. Trial.

BULLETIN
NEW YORK — (AP) — An assistant district attorney, called by the defense, testified at the Fritz Kuhn grand larceny trial today that the German-American Bund leader had planned to flee to Mexico because he was sure he would be convicted.

(By United Press)
NEW YORK — General Sessions Judge James G. Wallace ruled in the Fritz Kuhn grand larceny trial today that evidence is evidence even if it was obtained by "burglary."

He refused to permit Defense Attorney Peter L. F. Sabatino to question an accountant for District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey as to whether a court order had been obtained for a raid on German-American Bund headquarters last May 2 at which bund documents were seized.

Kuhn, leader of the bund, is accused of stealing $1,891.75 from the organization and of using part of the money to pay moving costs and medical bills for women friends.

PLANE CRASHES ON DUTCH SOIL

Nazi Ship Fired on as it Violates Holland Neutrality.

ROERMOND, HOLLAND — (AP) — A Nazi plane crashed on Dutch soil today after being fired at by Dutch anti-aircraft guns. "It was uncertain whether the plane was shot down or crashed while trying to evade the Dutch fire."

The German plane was fired on when it violated Dutch neutrality by flying over Holland territory. It crashed within the Dutch frontier. The pilot was killed.

The incident followed a Dutch protest of last Saturday against German flying boats landing in Dutch territorial waters.

Dynamite Bomb Frightens Ten Cleveland Families.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A new East side store of the Carley Dry Cleaning Co. was wrecked today by a dynamite bomb blast which broke windows in other buildings in the neighborhood for half a block in each direction.

Cuban Vote Blow to 'Strong Man' Batista

Defeat Of Government Parties Dims His Presidential Chances; Foes Of Government Win 41 Assembly Seats.

(By United Press)
HAVANA, Cuba — The defeat of government parties dominated by Col. Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's "strong man," in last week's elections of a national constitutional assembly, was believed today to have struck a serious blow at Batista's presidential hopes.

The supreme electoral tribunal announced today that with only 401 of the 5,764 precincts unreported, the government's opposition had won 41 of the 76 seats in the assembly which meets next month to draw up a new constitution.

The government parties were conceded the other 35 seats and it was not believed that the final count would change the results.

Five parties opposed the government's six-party coalition and won a majority of 14,180 votes. The Oppositionist Revolutionary party, headed by former President Armon Grau San Martin, won the most votes—207,637—and was expected to get 18 seats.

The pro-government Liberal party was second with 171,144 votes and probably will get 16. The pro-government Communists polled 87,802 votes and probably will get six. The oppositionist Democratic-Republican party was third with 158,404 votes, good for 15 seats.

The constituent assembly's power is defined vaguely and it was not known what else it would undertake in addition to writing a new constitution.

ALLEN TURNS DOWN LOCKE'S CABINET POST

Empire Steel Official Says He's 'Not Interested' in Directorship Offer.

PLANS NEW CONFERENCE

Mayor-Elect Hopes to Get Firm to 'Loan' Engineer to New City Administration.

Albert L. Allen, personnel director at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company today declined Mayor-elect William J. Locke's offer of service-safety director in his administration.

Allen also said he had not discussed the proposal with Locke at length, but said that his answer would be "definitely no."

"I consider it a compliment to have been considered for the job, but I am not interested in the position," he said. "I am well satisfied working for Empire and I wouldn't leave this job to return to politics."

Allen, former county engineer was offered the directorship Saturday by Locke, who takes office Jan. 1.

Locke, however, refused to accept Allen's answer as final and said he planned to discuss the matter with Allen again today.

Plans to Meet With Hill

"I haven't yet had the opportunity to talk things over at length with Allen," the mayor-elect said, "and I hope to be able to talk to him today. Maybe I can induce him to take the position if the company will 'loan' him to the administration."

Locke said he also planned to confer with James M. Hill, president of the company, to try to work out such an arrangement.

The mayor-elect added that if Allen still refuses the appointment after their conference today he had no one else in mind.

"However, I still intend to find a man qualified in engineering problems," Locke said.

STILL SNAGGED

But Mediator Hopes CIO and Chrysler Will Settle Scrap.

DETROIT — (AP) — Only one issue—wage rates—blocked settlement of the Chrysler production dispute with the United Automobile Workers (CIO) today.

Federal Labor Conciliator James F. Dewey summoned negotiators to conference today for what he hoped might be the final session in the 46-day-old dispute which has made 60,000 workers idle.

The original UAW-CIO wage demands included a blanket 10 per cent hour increase and vacations with pay. In a special Sunday meeting, however, negotiations deadlocked over these points, Dewey said.

Two of the union's major demands were a union shop and a voice in determining rate of production.

SWEPT TO DEATH

Great Lakes Seaman Missing After Wave Hits Tug.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The tug Louisiana of the Great Lakes Towing company reported by radio to coast guardsmen today that Mate Charles Miller, 24, of Toledo, was missing from the tug in Lake Erie a mile east of Vermilion.

The boat's captain said a heavy sea broke over the tug while Miller was inspecting a line aft to the barge fuel oil, and Miller may have been swept overboard.

HUNT 2 BODIES

Coast Guards Drag River For Pair Missing From Tow Boat.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — The disappearance of a veteran river pilot and a deckhand from a tow boat sent United States coast guardsmen with drag lines today to a section of the Ohio river 12 miles upstream from Louisville.

The missing men were William Daugherty, 63, of Louisville, master pilot, and John Brendel, 42, of Utica, Ind.

Nazi Mines In Shipping Lanes

Naval Authorities Count Loss of 16 Ships In 9 Days; Believe Germans Start Unrestricted Sea Warfare; Dutch Liner's Toll Still 140.

(By United Press)
LONDON — Naval authorities today listed 16 ships sunk in the past nine days, most of them by mines in the North sea during the week-end with a heavy loss of life. They believed Germany's unrestricted warfare had begun.

The loss of the British collier Torchbearer and possibly nine of its crew of 13 was reported this morning. It was the ninth North sea mine victim since Saturday. The list also included the 4,258-ton British ship Vensilla, "sunk since Saturday," and the 345-ton British ship Wigmore, not previously reported. No further details of the loss of these two were given. The 345-ton trawler Wigmore and the freighter Pensilva were also sunk.

Naval authorities insisted that the mines were German, because, they said, British mines are so equipped that they are harmless after they break from their moorings.

A week-end gale apparently had scattered German mines, driving them in on the British Isles and the Danish and Belgian coasts, but British authorities said the mines in the shipping lanes were set deliberately, probably by German submarines, and had not drifted there.

(In Hamburg, the newspaper Hamburger Tageblatt carried an article by A. Muerer, retired German vice admiral, suggesting that Germany throw its surface naval craft into war against British convoys, to assist German airplanes and U-Boats, "because it's no longer a battle but a ruthlessly conducted commercial war which has become the chief naval task.")

Ship Losses Listed.
The ship losses were given as follows:

For the week ending last Saturday, the following British ships: Cresswell, 275 tons; Ponzoan, 1,346 tons; Matra, 8,003 tons; Woodtown, 794 tons; Africa Shell, 706 tons; Blackhill, 2,492 tons; Torchbearer, 1,267 tons; Wigmore, 345 tons. Since Saturday, the British Vensilla, 4,258 tons.

Neutrals lost in the week ending Saturday: Norwegian tanker Arne Kjøde, 11,019 tons; the 8,309-ton Dutch lines Simon Bolivar; of which 150 of the passengers and crew were still missing; the Jugoslav steamer Carica Milica, 6,370 tons. Since Saturday, the losses were the Swedish Borjessen, 1,586 tons; the Italian Grazia, 5,875 tons.

(This list did not include the Lithuanian steamer Kaunas, 1,521 tons, sunk by a mine with the loss of one life.)

In addition to those sunk, it was announced that two small British vessels, unnamed, had been damaged by mines off the east coast.

Total merchant shipping lost during the war was now 121 ships totaling 486,209 tons, of which the allies lost 69 ships of 315,849 tons; the Germans eight ships of 38,880 tons; neutral countries 44 ships totaling 131,880 tons.

11 Beach Safety.

It was announced today that 11 more survivors of the Italian ship Grazia had been landed at a south-east British port, making the total number of survivors 26. The mine explosion had killed five of the Grazia's crew outright and several more were believed missing.

Only four survivors of the Torchbearer reached port and those were taken to the Colchester hospital injured. Capt. Leonard Hotter, the master, had a fractured spine.

The overseas navigation company announced that the crew of (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

PLANES: Mysterious Ship Flies Over Edge Of London

LONDON — (INS) — Anti-aircraft guns on the outskirts of Britain's capital opened up today when a mysterious unidentified airplane swept up the Thames estuary at a great height and circled the outskirts of London.

The craft passed over Essex and Kent and then headed up the Thames, drawing fire from defense guns. The pilot continued toward London but disappeared before it could be sighted over the capital itself.

Previously, anti-aircraft guns had opened fire on an unidentified white plane seen at a high altitude over a town on the south-eastern coast. It was not established whether this was the same machine which later headed up the Thames.

Earlier, British authorities claimed a new victory over six German war planes which, they said, attempted to raid the vital Fifth of North area of south-eastern Scotland but were driven back by Royal Air Force fighters.

A 20-minute air raid alarm sent thousands of residents of the region into shelters but no bombs were dropped.

The German planes, believed to have been Heinkel bombers and flying boats, were sighted by British boats and British aircraft interceptors. (Continued on Page 8, Col. 8)

DISSENT: One - Time 'Angel' Of Nazis Opposes War, Policy

(By United Press)

ZURICH, Switzerland — Fritz Thyssen, German iron and steel magnate credited with having aided the Nazi party to achieve power in Germany, declared in a letter to the United Press today that his opposition to the war and the present policy of the Reich government "forced me to leave Germany."

Thyssen is residing with his family at Locarno, Switzerland.

"As a member of the Reichstag I expressed myself timely and emphatically against the war and the present policy of the Reich government," Thyssen wrote.

"This political attitude threatened to cause consequences which forced me to leave Germany."

Thyssen wrote that it was to be regretted that articles had appeared in the foreign press which neither directly nor indirectly originated with him. He referred to dispatches regarding his activities since he left Germany several weeks ago, going first to Lucerne and then to Locarno, where he now resides.

"I reserve to myself determination of the moment when public opinion should be informed," he wrote with reference to his differences with the Hitler regime. "At present there is not yet reason for this."

Thyssen was a key man of German industry and for years was known as one of the leading men behind Hitler.

New Banter By Roosevelt Spurs Third Term Guessing

TALKS ABOUT INSPECTION OF PAPERS IN '41

Tells Library Audience He Hopes Private Records Will Be Available Then.

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—Another wave of speculation over President Roosevelt's political intentions rolled along today in the wake of a speech in which he expressed the hope his collections and papers would be ready for "public inspection and use" by the spring of 1941.

In a bantering mood yesterday at the site of the library that will house the private papers of his public life, the president said he hoped "my good friends of the press" would give "one interpretation to the expression of my hope that when we open the building to the public it will be a fine day."

The remark was interpolated in his address at the laying of the library cornerstone on the Roosevelt estate and interpreted by most reporters as meaning the president actually is enjoying all the hullabaloo over whether he will aim for a third term.

The disclosure the president's correspondence would be available to students, historians and biographers by the middle of 1941 furnished no real clue to his intentions. It did serve, however, to bring the third-term puzzle to the fore again by leading to conjecture whether Mr. Roosevelt would wish the public to have access to records of the New Deal's intimate workings, if he intended to seek reelection next year.

Into a copper box that fitted into the cornerstone of the library, the president tucked copies of newspapers which printed stories that linked the third term and the 1941 opening date of the library.

Then he heard several speeches and made one himself.

Among those who listened was Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator. The former governor of Indiana, with strong, organized backing in his home state, has seen his name put forward for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940—if Mr. Roosevelt does not want it.

McNutt was one of the individuals who subscribed to the $350,000 cost of the library.

After the ceremonies, the president motored to Hyde Park station and took a special train back to Washington. He will leave the capital tomorrow for a week at Warm Springs, Ga., where habitually he spends Thanksgiving.

The marriage of the celebrated young couple drew 30,000 well-wishers to Columbus Square, across the street from the church of St. John's Evangelical church.

Surviving are three sons, Lester of Battle Creek, Albert of Loudonville and Robert of Portland, Ore.; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Hartwig of Mansfield, and Mrs. Mary Blazier of Toledo, and two brothers, George Bettac of Plymouth and Robert Bettac of Bellefontaine.

The body was returned to the Wapner funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. Paul Saleste, pastor of St. John's church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

ILLNESS FATAL TO INFANT Private funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the family home for Roberta Lou Jones, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen T. Jones, 22 Dudley avenue, who died at the home Sunday morning after a short illness.

3 C. O. P. Groups Confer on 1940 Farm Plank

DAILY SCRAPBOOK--

By R. J. Scott

Up and Down THE STREET

This will probably come as welcome news to Senior High school play audiences. For the first time in a number of years—exact number undetermined—new scenery will grace the stage when the January graduating class presents its play "Vanity" tomorrow night. New canvas and new and different scenery will greet the audience. The job, done by students under the supervision of E. L. Heasley, dramatics instructor, took two months.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates was heard to mutter something about mutiny under his breath this morning as he waved a little yellow traffic tag in the air. Officers who work under him proved they were no respecter of persons when it comes to "lugging" overtime parkers as the chief found a tag fluttering from the windshield of his car. But, he'll pay it, he says.

In addition to the usual holiday favors which they receive from Richland County Junior Red Cross, 50 disabled World War veterans at Chillicothe hospital, will be given a "jelly shower" this week. The Juniors of Springfield township school contributed 75 glasses of home-made preserves and jellies which will be taken to the veterans by Mrs. T. J. Newcomb. The county Junior organization "adopted" the veterans several years ago. Thanksgiving favors—handmade pumpkin nut baskets—which were made by Country Day school and Plymouth school, will be distributed among the veterans, as well as to patients in General hospital, Ohio State Reformatory hospital, Thomas hospital and to residents of the county infirmary.

The Mansfield board of education will attempt to complete a two-year-old job—and a big one—at its meeting tonight. Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller said the board will "clean up" details of the city's million-dollar school building program which the board began to work on just about two years ago. The actual construction work in the program won't be completed until after the first of the year, but the letting of contracts, designing of buildings and the other details that go with the huge program are just about done.

Mrs. Lena Dueber Succumbs at Son's Home in Michigan. Mrs. Lena Dueber, 72, of 119 McPherson street, died Sunday in Battle Creek, Mich., at the home of her son, Lester, with whom she had been visiting, after a short illness.

Born in Gallion, April 18, 1868, Mrs. Dueber left Mansfield last September. She was a member of St. John's Evangelical church.

Surviving are three sons, Lester of Battle Creek, Albert of Loudonville and Robert of Portland, Ore.; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Hartwig of Mansfield, and Mrs. Mary Blazier of Toledo, and two brothers, George Bettac of Plymouth and Robert Bettac of Bellefontaine.

The body was returned to the Wapner funeral home where services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. Paul Saleste, pastor of St. John's church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

MEET TODAY ON RELIEF CRISIS

Cleveland and Toledo Officials Confer With Bricker on Special Session Plea.

COLUMBUS — Gov. John W. Bricker, flanked by his legislative and welfare department leaders, met today with officials of Cleveland and Toledo in a conference that may determine whether Ohio's general assembly will hold a special relief session.

Officials of the two cities have told Bricker several times that their relief funds are depleted and unless more revenue is made available conditions will become desperate. Bricker has consistently refused to call a special session.

Charles Sherwood, state welfare director, conferred with Cleveland officials last week and told the governor that he believed the situation could be handled without resorting to a special session.

Should a special session be held, persons close to Bricker are speculating on where additional relief funds could be found and still permit the administration to maintain its pledge of "no new taxes."

Rural legislators have expressed opposition to imposition of new statewide taxes.

The question of when a session should be convened also was raised. One legislative advisor to the governor said he preferred that a session, should one be deemed necessary, be delayed until after the first of the year to allow time for preparation of a program.

2 DIE IN HOTEL

Killed When Blaze Sweeps Indiana Building In Early Morning.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—(AP)—Two men were killed early today when fire swept the three-story brick Saint Nicholas hotel a few blocks from downtown Terre Haute.

The two, trapped on upper floors, were Warren Blair, 76-year-old retired railroad conductor, and J. W. Jewell, about 60, both of Terre Haute.

BROOKLYN EDUCATOR LOOMS AS OHIO STATE'S NEW PRESIDENT

COLUMBUS, O.—Trustees were reported today virtually agreed upon selection of Dr. James Grover McDonald, a Brooklyn educator, as president of Ohio State University.

The board interviewed Mr. McDonald here yesterday and the Ohio State Journal said a successor to Dr. George W. Rightmire, who resigned the presidency in July of 1938, would be named within two weeks and quoted an "authoritative source" as saying Dr. McDonald probably would be given the chair.

However, two other men still were reported under consideration. One was Dr. Wilson M. Compton, professor of economics at George Washington University, while the name of the other was not revealed. Dr. Compton was expected to come here tomorrow to meet the board.

Dr. McDonald is president of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences and served on the faculties of the Universities of Indiana and Harvard and Radcliffe college.

A native of Coldwater, O., he is 53 years-old and is honorary chairman of the Foreign Policy association.

Dr. McDonald stopped here while enroute to Cincinnati where he was scheduled to address a forum (wise center) tonight.

The educator's name first was mentioned following a meeting of trustees a week ago—one of many meetings which the board sought to find a man to replace Dr. Rightmire. Following the session, Miss Edith M. Campbell of Cincinnati, chairman of the trustees, said that "very definite progress" had been made and a choice might be announced soon.

Dr. William McPherson, dean emeritus of the graduate school, has been acting president since Dr. Rightmire resigned.

BURIED TODAY

Services Held For Robert Cross Who Died Sunday At Age 52.

Robert Cross, 52, died at his home, rear 221½ North Adams street, Sunday morning after a long illness.

He had been a resident of Mansfield for the past 10 years.

Funeral services were held at 1 p. m. today at the Geiger funeral home, with Rev. A. J. McCrary of Mt. Calvary Baptist church officiating. Burial was in Mansfield cemetery.

Besides her husband, she is survived by several nieces and a nephew. One of the nieces, Mrs. S. H. Glessner, resides in Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Geiger funeral home. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday at St. Peter's Catholic church, with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

LEADERS ALSO MEET TO STUDY LABOR PROGRAM

McNary, Oregon Solon, Seeks to Make Stronger Bid for Western Votes.

WASHINGTON — News that three Republican groups are conferring on farm and labor planks for their 1940 platform provided a diversion today for political forecasters who for weeks have talked about little except the third term question.

Interest in the burning topic of whether President Roosevelt would run again was kept alive, however, with a comment by Paul V. McNutt that "no possible combination or permutation" could keep the nomination away from the chief executive if he chose to make the race.

McNutt, federal security administrator, who spent the weekend at Hyde Park, N. Y., has said repeatedly that he would withdraw from the 1940 convention contest if Mr. Roosevelt sought a third term.

Politicians generally agree that the farm states will be one of the major battlegrounds in the 1940 campaign. Republicans made marked gains in the midwest state and congressional races last year.

It was learned that Senator McNary of Oregon, senate minority leader, has been conferring with other party chieftains on ideas for strong farm and labor planks.

McNary believes, like many of his colleagues, that the administration's reciprocal trade program is detrimental to western agriculture and should be altered or scrapped.

What his alternative plans will be remains to be seen, but McNary is so determined to have a voice in formulation of farm and other planks which would attract western voters that he has permitted friends to push his own candidacy for the presidential nomination.

A second Republican group studying the farm question has just been created. Chairman Hope (R., Kans.) of the house Republican agricultural study committee named a subcommittee headed by Rep. Horton (R., Wyo.) with Reps. Allen (R., Ill.) and Dworshak (R., Idaho) as members, to hold hearings at Salt Lake City Dec. 1 and 2 on problems confronting producers in that area.

A third Republican group giving attention to the farm problem is a subcommittee of the general program committee headed by Dr. Glenn Frank of Chicago. The subcommittee is in charge of W. J. Goodwin, Des Moines banker.

DRIVER FINED

Youth Arraigned After Crash That Injured Five.

ASHLAND—Benjamin F. Harris, 19, of Sullivan, was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving when arraigned today before Justice of the Peace J. H. Armstrong.

The charge grew out of an accident last Friday when Harris' car turned over and five persons, including himself, were cut and bruised.

They were treated at New London hospital. The accident occurred near Nova. The affidavit against Harris was signed by highway patrol officers.

Those treated at the hospital were Harris, Graham Schultz and daughter, Evelyn Schultz and LaVerne Lamkowski, all of Nova and Ben Dennis of Sullivan.

Ohio, California Schemes Prove Communists Right In Definition of Democracy

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

SAN ANTONIO—Having seen at close range the recent antics of the gimmies, drunk on democracy, in California and Ohio, I have begun to taper off the stuff. The Communists discovered our weakness for it a few years ago and told us that Stalinism was 20th century democracy.

That hurt the feelings of us who had fallen into a habit of thinking of democracy as just something that guaranteed one man's rights against another's wrongful doings, and held it to be, all in all, a beautiful thing, like love, and much too good for the likes of the dirty Muscovites. But the Communists were right, and they can have 20th century democracy and Stalinism, too.

The procedure in California was strictly democratic. Some racketeers got together with a few dollars borrowed from a criminal lieutenant of the Los Angeles police force named Kynette, now under life sentence to San Quentin for blowing up an enemy's car with a bomb, and began a radio ballyhoo for an old-age pension scheme called ham-n-eggs.

One of the promoters was a convicted swindler and a son of a convicted swindler, too. Another had achieved a gaudy fortune with little people's money in a thrift-investment company; a third had sort of oscillated around in the heavenly company of Father Divine's angels in the local outpost of the Harlem heaven and had written articles on economics for the man who would be God. And so on.

They wheedled pennies out of the aged poor at the rate of $3,000 or more a day, and got enough signatures, and many to spare, to compel the calling of a special election under the democratic system.

Twentieth century democracy was clicking. But in their proposition on the ballot they undertook to rescind most of the constitution and many of the laws of California, abolish human rights and property rights and place legislative power in the hands of three men to be appointed by one man who was identified by name and address on the ballot as the one who must become dictator of California within five days, with the right to appoint his successor in the event of his death or recall.

That is democracy—the rule of the majority even though the majority pass sentence of death on democracy and abolish the republican form of government by a plurality of a single vote. In this case one-third of the electors did vote against democracy, although very likely none but the Communists on that side had read the proposition through or knew what it was that they were voting.

LEGACY OF LOVE + + + + +

CHAPTER XXX

Tom pressed his cheek tightly to Rita's, sending a confidence through her that she could not shake off. Their steps were in perfect unison with the rhythm of the orchestra on the platform up front. It was a heavenly moment.

"Darling—I'll tell you the whole story soon," Tom whispered, his mouth close to her ear. "It's a thriller. But you'll have to trust me and—stay away from Harry."

She drew apart from him, her eyes wide.

"But you're constantly with him! As if he were some one special!"

"That's the hitch, sweetheart—he's very special."

They were in a dim corner of the ballroom now and unexpectedly he kissed her cheek. "I love you, dear—more than ever," he told her softly.

Then he lost no time in taking her back to where Delores was sitting with Harry.

Rita was puzzled, and thoroughly shaken. There was always something Tom would explain in the future—a future that never came. Nothing was ever settled between them. It all seemed so hopeless.

At their approach, Harry Hardy got to his feet. He smiled that oily, repugnant smile of his, said to Rita, "My turn next. I've been watching you dance—so divinely."

There was a cheap suggestive innuendo about him now, further warning her against him. She dropped into the vacant chair beside her mother, smiled up at him faintly.

"Sorry—I'm tired. Delores can outlast me any time on the dance floor."

She was trying to give him back to Delores, hoping she'd get her fill of him, hoping she'd discover some ugly fault in him that would make her conscious of the count back in Paris. There had been far too much scandal about the Green family affairs.

"Ah, quite so—but the countless and I have just waltzed—very divinely, too."

"Do go on, dear," begged Delores, as if it were all in the family.

Tom stood glaring down at Rita. It seemed almost a dare. Certainly, she could do as she pleased.

She jumped up, gave Harry one of her brightest smiles, and walked swiftly away with him. They had danced once around the room when he stopped and led her out to a moonlit terrace.

He found a seat for her in a glider, dropped down beside her, and said, "I'm glad to get this opportunity to talk to you alone."

"Really?" her voice was coolly discouraging. For some odd reason, she felt a little frightened. She was nearly sorry that she had danced with this man just to show Tom Cleveland a thing or two.

Harry Hardy made no pretense of having heard her, but continued quickly, "You see, I'm pulling out of here in the morning—urgent business abroad. I don't know when I'll be able to see you again—unless I can get you to go along with me."

She turned to him in amazement. She said, with cutting emphasis, "I'm not in the least interested, Mr. Hardy."

He ought to know that he was the last man on earth she would marry. She'd never given him any encouragement.

"You're the one woman I want—the one I'm determined to have. We'll travel—I'll never tire of you."

His pin-point eyes were too near, too searchingly near. She drew back, filled with uncontrollable loathing. He looked, with his long sunken cheeks, his narrow-shouldered, hollow-chested frame, too Mephistophelean to be human. His long clawlike fingers made her jump when they touched her hands folded in her lap.

She sprang nervously to her feet, got out shakily. "No—I never could marry you! It's—ridiculous!"

He was beside her instantly, holding her firmly by the arm. She could feel his hot breath on her face. He said low, "Ah, but you don't understand."

"I've been looking all over for you!" cut in Tom Cleveland, looking daggers at the quivering Rita. "Sorry—you'll have to excuse Harry. We've got a heavy date in the bar."

Harry brightened all too swiftly. "Excuse us, Rita—it's important," he said, and marched off immediately with Tom, leaving Rita standing alone, seething with anger and humiliation.

She lost no time in making her way across the crowded ballroom to Delores, group of men and women. Rita sat down unobtrusively among them, taking no part in the conversation that must be half shrieked to be heard above the din and confusion.

Even Jimmy Block's invitation to take a whirl around the floor was welcome. They had danced only a few minutes, however, and were pausing between numbers, when Eva Sheen came rushing up to them, all frowns.

"Rita—you'll have to help me!" she burst out. "I'm tired of all this! Tom and Harry are in the bar simply pie-eyed. I don't care what kind of show Harry makes of himself—but Tom—I'm worried about Tom."

"I suppose if you're engaged to a man it does make a difference," Rita said, feeling spiteful.

"Oh, it's—it's not that," returned the confused Eva. "I think somebody should try to stop . . ."

Jimmy broke in with a laugh. "You women! Better let those fellows alone, Eva! If I weren't in training I'd like . . ."

"You make me sick!" Eva broke in angrily, and flounced away.

"Speaking of engagements—whatever became of your affair with Roger Brewster?" Jimmy asked Rita. "I see he got married."

Rita smiled to herself with dry lips, began walking across the room toward Delores' desperate signaling. She, too, had no doubt grown impatient, and would no longer wait around for a man who preferred liquid refreshment to herself.

"That's—oh, let's not dig up the past, Jimmy," Rita said finally.

She got rid of him as tactfully as possible and hurried the grumbling Delores up to her rooms.

Everything was wrong again with Delores. She said her nerves were jumping torture. She was so sorry for herself that Rita could do nothing with her. She began fretting, accusing Rita of neglect. If she didn't intend to remain with the only mother she would ever have, then why hadn't she resigned her detestable position with that old store?

So with misgivings, Rita complied with Delores' wish. She wrote out a note to Sam McGill, offering her resignation to take effect immediately, called a bell-boy and sent him down to the desk with it.

Rita nearly regretted this impulsive act as soon as she had done it. She sighed resignedly.

Now, she was squarely up against Delores' idiosyncrasies and vanity; from this moment she would be at her beck and call, dependent upon her for the very food she ate. It wasn't such a pleasant outlook.

But even while she thought this, she blamed herself for being a self-centered creature who deserved no pity. She must forget herself and do something drastic about Delores. It was her duty.

So she tucked Delores into bed and told her plainly what sort of man her Harry was, then abruptly left her to her nerves, or whatever else Delores thought the occasion demanded, and went quickly to her own room.

Packaged, Ready-to-Serve Foods Handy, Convenient

By RUTH CHAMBERS

Not the least of joys of cooking, to the homemaker of today, is that now and then she can take a vacation from her task. She isn't held down by the necessity of spending a certain number of hours in the kitchen every day. If other tasks call her, or she wishes to give time and attention to other interests, the daily meals can be easily and quickly prepared. An almost incredible variety of packaged, quickly prepared or ready-to-serve foods are waiting to help her.

Perhaps the young homemaker accustomed to these conveniences doesn't quite appreciate her good luck, but her mother and grandmother can recall when things weren't made so easy for the woman who had to prepare the meals for a family.

- ### BUFFET SUPPER MENU
- Assorted Cold Meats—Creamed Asparagus Tips
 - Potato Salad
 - Buttered Bread
 - Individual Cherry Pies
 - Coffee

Among the most varied and delicious of the ready-to-serve foods are the meats. These are important, for they furnish the important food elements, especially protein, so that these quickly prepared meats are nourishing. Vegetables, cooked or in salads, bread, an easy dessert and a beverage should be accompanied by a meat dish if the menu is to be well balanced.

Among the favorites. Among the favorite ready-to-serve meats are sliced ham, cooked tongue, jellied veal and other meat loaves, canned corned beef and a wide variety of sausages. These

Cold Cuts Suitable For Buffet

An assortment of cold sliced meats makes a very pretty main dish for a buffet meal. Thin slices of meat loaf, ham, roast meat and various sausages can be arranged in an attractive pattern, as shown here, and garnished with sliced pickles, little pearl onions, and parsley, or any other combination of tasty and colorful foods. Have bread sliced and buttered to make sandwiches. A salad, a hot dish, dessert and beverage complete the menu.

heat. The addition of three tablespoons of sherry flavoring just before serving will add to the taste appeal of this unusual dish.

Here's Six Unbeaten Teams

NEW YORK (UP)—Six major undefeated football teams dominate the United States today with the season in its last two weeks. Here they are, ranked in the apparent order of their strength according to impartial reports collected from coast to coast:

1. Tennessee, unbeaten, untied and unscored on.
2. Texas A. and M., unbeaten and untied.
3. South California, unbeaten but tied by Oregon.
4. Tulane, unbeaten but tied by North Carolina.
5. Cornell, unbeaten and untied.
6. U. C. L. A., unbeaten but tied by Stanford and Santa Clara.

There were two important casualties over the week-end, North Carolina, unbeaten until Saturday, met an inspired and lucky Duke team and went down to defeat, 13 to 3. Oklahoma, king-pin of the midwest, lost to Missouri, 7 to 6.

A Real Crucial Game at Last---Ohio Vs. Michigan

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS (UP)—The "picture" game of Ohio State's football schedule—the annual scrap with Michigan's Wolves—features next Saturday's grid program, and it's really a crucial contest.

The surprising Bucks, winners of five straight western conference frays, need victory over the Wolves to clinch their first undisputed Big Ten title since 1920, and to avenge the 18 to 0 setback at Michigan's hands last year.

Ohio State is assured of a share of the crown, regardless of the outcome of Saturday's event, tucking away a slice of the laurels Saturday by trampling Illinois 21 to 0. The Bucks still could take the championship should Northwest-ern beat Iowa Saturday, regardless of the outcome of the Michigan game.

The Illinois team which beat Michigan two weeks ago in the year's biggest upset failed to show much against the Bucks as Ohio ran up the third greatest score it has registered in 28 games with the Westerners. Illinois failed to capitalize on a recovered fumble on Ohio's seven yard line on the first play of the game, and from then on it was all Ohio.

The Bucks made three touchdown marches, the first going 93 yards, the second 73 and the last 75, with Quarterback Don Scott, Halfback Jimmy Strausbaugh and End Esco Sarkinen getting the scores. Scott added two points after touchdown, while Tackle Charley Maag booted the other.

This week's schedule:
Thursday, Nov. 23: Baldwin Wallace at Ohio Wesleyan. Case at Western Reserve. Toledo at Xavier. West Virginia at Wilberforce and Miami at Cincinnati.
Saturday, Nov. 25: Ohio State at Michigan. Wittenberg at Oberlin. Alfred Holbrook at Upsilon Heidelberg at Bethany. John Carroll at Akron, and Muskingum at Hofstra.

HERRING GETS PIGSKIN AUTOGRAPHED BY MATES

PRINCETON, N. J.—(INS)—Autographed by all Princeton players and coaches, the football used in the Princeton-Harvard game Nov. 4 today was the possession of Donald G. Herring, Jr., a moment of the victory his teammates scored against Harvard a day after Herring underwent amputation of his left leg because of injuries suffered against Brown the week before.

Minors to Ballot On 44 Amendments

DURHAM, N. C.—(UP)—The annual minor league baseball convention, opening in Cincinnati, Dec. 4, will consider 44 amendments to minor league laws, it was announced today. Most important proposed amendments: To prevent the home club from calling off a game because of ground conditions more than 15 minutes before scheduled game time unless agreed to in writing by the visiting club. To permit Class A-1 clubs to pay a bonus to free agents with past experience for signing the first contract with the club. It also would raise the player limit in Classes A-1 and A from 17 to 18 players. One aimed at preventing affiliated clubs from exchanging players in the closing stages of a pennant race by prohibiting such transfers after Aug. 1.

TOM MANNING PURCHASED BY COLUMBUS STABLE

COLUMBUS (UP)—The three-year-old trotter, Tom Manning, today belonged to C. H. Bowen of Columbus. Bowen purchased the winner of the Governor's Cup and seven other races last season from Dr. H. M. Marshall, of Urbana, O., for $2,500, and announced Harry Short of Columbus, would race the colt. Marshall acquired the colt from William Hughes, of Cleveland, for $1,600 at the Ohio horse sale last week.

Jock Signed, Kern Slated For New Job, Pitt Hears

PITTSBURGH (INS)—Football-conscious Pittsburgh, if one is to believe today's reports via the gridiron grapevine will lose Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, late of Pitt, and Coach Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech. Sutherland, who resigned as head Pitt football coach last spring, has signed with an unnamed eastern school, the reports said. Kern, long reported dissatisfied at Tech, was rumored considering an offer from West Virginia university.

Apples and Mush His Diet

Munching on an apple which, together with scanty helpings of corn meal mush, is all he and his family has had to eat for several days, is little Arthur Rogers, age four, of Cleveland, O. The plight of the Rogers—there are eight of them—is typical of that of thousands of Cleveland families on relief due to exhaustion of relief funds.

STUDY HUMAN 'POLAR BEARS'

Scientists Find Their Sweat Glands 'Out of Kilter'; They Like Cold.
(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—Human "polar bears" who revel in winter's sub-freezing weather and have to spend summer's hottest days immersed in a tub of cold water were described today in the journal of Heredity.
Such persons have extreme difficulty in keeping cool enough, reported L. C. Glass and Darrell H. Yost of the University of Idaho, because they have no sweat glands. Thus they might take a snow bath in the nude and be quite comfortable.
Perspiration is the principal method of keeping the body cool in hot weather and maintaining the normal body temperature. When these glands do not function, the temperature of the body runs dangerously high, even high enough to cause death.
The critical temperature of life is about 107 degrees and above that point the cells of the body burn themselves up.
However, when the temperature of the air begins to slide down toward zero the "polar bears" feel comfortable without an overcoat because their internal heat is not radiated away by the imperceptible sweating which occurs in most people even in freezing temperatures.
The sweatless condition is apparently inherited by only one member of each generation of an afflicted family, the Idaho scientists said, and no treatment except keeping cool in hot weather is known.
The sufferers also are often unable to shed tears; they have frequent severe headaches and violent stomach disorders. The skin is usually glossy and dry; they

WORD from Hollywood is to the effect that Louis Bromfield is busy working on his newest film venture, "Marching As to War," a Salvation Army story. . . . Production of Shirley Temple's new picture, "The Blue Bird," was held up last week when Shirley was unable to report for work, being confined to her home with a slight illness. . . . Sonja Henie purchases a new pair of ice skates at the start of every season, but she usually discards them after a few days and dusts off an old pair she has been using for six years. . . . Andy Devine lost his voice for three days after whooping through a battle with redskins for his role in "Geronimo."

With the amateur hunters out in full force there are a lot of farmers who wish they were in some nice, safe spot like the Maginot line.

If the pioneers hadn't been better shots than the average nimrod of today New York City would still be a howling wilderness.

One thing we may be thankful for is that the government experts apparently did not succeed so far with that plan of "streamlining" the turkey.

Football and checkers are a great deal alike, says a famous grid expert. Maybe—but in checkers you don't pay $2.50 for a chance to get a whopping head cold.

Modern gridiron criticism: "He was a terrible player. Why he didn't even make a single All-American team."

MART TAKES ON RECOVERY TINGE IN SECOND HOUR

General Run of Business News Still Provides Principal Prop for Issues.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The stock market today took on a selective recovery tinge after a hesitant start.

Gains of fractions to a point or so predominated near the second hour.

The general run of business news still provided the principal market prop, brokers reported. Some disappointment was evident in breadrooms over the recent somewhat mystifying reluctance of the market to catch up with industry.

Bonds, commodities and foreign securities markets were about steady.

Financial quarters studied the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that while shipments were catching up with orders, backlogs were slow to decline despite record-breaking production.

"Slightly better deliveries are available on some products," it was added, "including plates and shapes. Backlogs of other items extend two to four months, and the bulk of new business necessarily is for next quarter delivery."

Mill backlogs, the review believed, assure a continuation of heavy operations into first quarter, although a further increase in domestic consumption or in foreign demand was seen as necessary for an indefinite extension of steelmaking at its present rate.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, increase secretion and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

ASKS PUBLIC TO FIX BLAME FOR LABOR BATTLE

Green Says Neutrality Only Serves to Protect Side Responsible for Feud.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON—Amid persistent talk of a new administration effort to bring the AFL and the CIO together, President William Green of the AFL has asked the neutral public to place the responsibility for labor's internal feud "where it belongs."

"We believe that an attitude of neutrality toward the disputants in this case who profess to be anxious for labor peace merely serves to shelter and protect the side which is to blame," Green said in a statement last night. "Therefore, such an attitude hinders the attainment of peace."

"We are convinced that the facts show the American Federation of Labor did its utmost to prevent the split in labor and has since done everything in its power to effect peace."

Reports have circulated among union officers that an influential cabinet officer would make the new gesture toward bringing the two factions together.

But John L. Lewis, the CIO leader, is known to be opposed to any more conferences unless he can be convinced that a satisfactory settlement will result.

On another stage of the tangled labor drama, Thurman Arnold was explaining why the government felt called on to prosecute some unions under the anti-trust laws. Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust cases, said any labor union which used legal rights of association "in an illegal way" would face federal court action.

In a letter answering numerous inquiries arising from recent suits against some unions in the building trades, he declared the laws "should not be used as an instrument to police strikes or adjudicate labor controversies."

However, Arnold listed five types of "unreasonable restraint" by unions:

- 1. Preventing use of cheaper materials, improved equipment or more efficient methods.
- 2. Compelling "the hiring of useless and unnecessary labor."
- 3. Enforcing "graft and extortion."
- 4. Enforcing "illegally fixed prices."
- 5. Destroying "an established and legitimate system of collective bargaining."

5 DRIVERS FINED

Assessed $10, Costs Each on Reckless Driving Charges.

Five autoists were fined $10 and costs each in municipal court this morning — on charges of careless and reckless driving while the case of a sixth was dismissed for lack of evidence. Two of the drivers lost their driving rights for 15 days.

Those fined were Joseph Van Boven, 44, Ashland; N. P. Brillhart, 49, Zanesville; Elmer Parrish, 189 Gerge avenue; Albert Fountain, 54, Detroit, Mich.; and William A. Dennison, 46, Cleveland. Parrish and Van Boven had their operator's license suspended for 15 days.

All were arrested by state highway patrolmen on U. S. route 42, with the exception of Parrish and Brillhart who were picked up on route 13 south of Mansfield.

The case of Mrs. Letty Hammon, 399 Overlook road, charged with careless and reckless driving was dismissed for the lack of evidence.

GOAL REACHED

Ashland Community Fund Hits $27,104 or $283 Over Quota.

ASHLAND—This city's 11th annual Community Chest drive, which had as its goal $26,811.50, passed the 100 per cent mark Saturday night, it was reported here by J. E. Bohn, chairman.

With only unofficial figures available, Bohn stated that after a preliminary check had been made of the completed reports of the solicitors it was found that the goal had been exceeded by $283 for a total of $27,104.50.

The Community Chest, an Ashland organization designed to assist worthy civic projects and charitable organizations, is city-wide, and most industrial and other centers had 100 per cent pledges and contributions from their employees.

PUSH HUNT FOR WOMAN'S SLAYER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Police today checked the background and habits of Miss Bonnie May Robinson, 30, in their search for the rapist who clubbed the attractive, red-haired woman to death and left her body beside a lonely path in an isolated section of Louisville.

They apparently had little to work on. Preliminary tests said Lieut. John Messmer of the police laboratory, showed six hairs which the victim grasped in a hand when her body was found Saturday were not the same color as her own hair.

Chemical analysis was ordered of several pieces of cloth, a soiled handkerchief, a pair of freshly-laundered socks and an empty cigarette case, all found near the body.

STRICKEN AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Miss Nettie Underwood Dies At Home; Rites Wednesday.

Miss Nettie M. Underwood, 152 West Fourth street, died at her home early this morning following an illness of several years.

Born in this city, she had spent her entire life here. She was a member of First English Lutheran church. Surviving are two sisters, Adeline and Florence with whom she made her home, and a niece, Miss Hazel Underwood.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the home with Rev. Grover Swoyer officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

ROLL CALL TOPS REPORT OF 1938

3,184 Enrolled in First Week of Drive as Compared With 2,000 Last Year.

Red Cross Roll Call executives were jubilant today over the first eight days' report which showed 3,184 members enrolled in the Richland county organization as compared with little more than 2,000 for the same period last year.

Saturday's reports added 746 names to the first week's roster, bringing the total Saturday night to 3,184.

There are still about two weeks of the Roll Call, and all of county and most of the industries are still to make their reports, it was announced. Shelby, which has a quota of 2,200, will not report its figures until its drive is completed.

The 100 per cent concerns listed Saturday were Vernon Redding and Associates, Metropolitan Life Insurance company, Dr. Charles Shafer's office, Dr. J. R. Tomlin's office, Dr. D. G. Gott's office, Dr. K. T. Langacher's office, Dr. C. W. Frickman's office, Dr. Harry Knox's office, Dr. E. A. Smedal's office, Hollibaugh-Wolfe Insurance agency.

Equitable Life Assurance society, Dr. W. J. Acomb's office, Kyle and Custer, Dr. R. K. Ort's office, Pure Oil company, Geiger Funeral home, Woodville school, Golden-Russell, Inc., Jim Brown's store; Caldwell and Bloor company, Fifth street school staff, Lincoln Mutual Indemnity company, Crider Motor corporation, H. L. Reed company, and Hartman-Spreng company.

PAYS EXPENSES

Baer Says $475 in Donations Used in Campaign.

G. A. Baer, Democratic campaign chairman, reported today that $475 paid to him during the municipal campaign by the Democratic executive committee, was distributed to party workers and used to pay campaign expenses.

Baer submitted receipts to the county election board showing expenditures accounting for all but $89 of that amount. He listed the $89 as "miscellaneous and incidental expenses."

The rest of the money was paid to party workers throughout the city for their work in getting registrations and taking voters to the polls in automobiles, for community rallies, and general expenses at campaign headquarters, he said.

Payments totaling $475 to Baer were listed in the executive committee's financial report, filed Saturday with the board of elections.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, who was credited by the executive committee with a $233 contribution to the campaign fund, said the money represented county employees' contributions and not his own.

PRAGUE QUIET

Workers Go Back to Jobs as Demonstrations End.

PRAGUE—(AP)—Prague workers, ignoring agitation for a strike to protest conditions under the rule of Nazi Germany, went to their jobs as usual today with the assurance their complaints would receive early consideration.

Anxious to avoid further disturbances following recent arrests and executions of Czech student leaders and others, the protectorate government appealed to the workers to refrain from striking.

The appeal was accompanied by a promise that protests occasioned by rising prices and other grievances would be studied. Czech police also spread a warning through workers' district in Prague and four other industrial centers that any strike today in sympathy for executed compatriots would be suppressed sternly.

VERDICT UPHELD

ASHLAND — A judgment for $3,000 in favor of the plaintiff for injuries sustained in an accident near Mifflin was sustained by the judges of the Fifth District court of appeals here in the action of Mrs. J. A. Kline against Beulah Dilgard.

Mrs. Kline, a Pennsylvania woman, was injured close to the Ashland county village, and had brought suit to recover damages from Mrs. Dilgard, also a Pennsylvania woman.

The judges, in affirming the verdict of the lower court, did not give any opinion.

MRS. ROOSEVELT URGES HOOVER TO HEAD U. S. REFUGEE GROUP

(By United Press) WASHINGTON—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt suggested today that former President Herbert Hoover head a centralized agency for relief of refugees and civilian war sufferers.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that Mr. Hoover has more experience in such work than any other person and his activities during the World War brought universal commendation.

Rumors have circulated recently that Mr. Hoover had offered his services to the American Red Cross in European relief work, but Red Cross Chairman Norman H. Davis denied that he had received a letter from Hoover offering to head the European work.

Mrs. Roosevelt stressed the importance of a centralized refugee relief agency, declaring it could coordinate all organizations trying to "help human beings in dire need everywhere," in addition to cutting down overhead expenses. It could raise money for all in a single campaign, she said.

Formation of such a central agency already has been discussed. Mrs. Roosevelt disclosed. Despite her hopes, she said she could not predict whether the efforts will succeed.

She hinted, but did not say so outright, that Hoover had been asked to head the proposed agency. The Red Cross does not feel it can take on this work in addition to its regular emergency job, she said.

ACCIDENT FATAL

CRESTLINE—Injuries received in an accident while hunting caused the death near Ashley, O. of Robert Richmond, former teacher in Crestline schools, according to word received here.

Mr. Richmond was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Richmond of near Ashley.

Funeral services are to be held at the Ashley church at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

17 TOWNS SEND DELEGATES TO VETS' MEETING

Disabled War Veterans Vote to Meet in Marysville During Galion Meeting.

GALION—During the sessions of the fall conference of the Central Zone of the Disabled American Veterans which was held in Galion Sunday, it was decided to hold the spring conference at Marysville.

Both the D. A. V. and its auxiliary met here Sunday, bringing representatives here from Columbus, Zanesville, Mansfield, Marion, Newark, Lancaster, Wooster, Marysville, Mt. Vernon, Galion, Circleville, Coshocton, Upper Sandusky, Delaware, Ashland, Millersburg and Mt. Gilead.

Commander in Charge. During the morning hours the auxiliary held its meeting at the Junior high school with the zone commander, Mrs. Mary Long of Columbus, in charge. There was a school of instruction during the morning. Work was put on by the Columbus auxiliary drill team. Among the distinguished guests present were the department commander, Mrs. George R. Fout of Cleveland; the department senior vice-commander, Mrs. Kenneth Little of Columbus; the department treasurer, Mrs. Carl Dozer of Zanesville.

At the same time a conference was held by the Disabled Veterans in the legion rooms when problems of rehabilitation, child welfare and dependents, were discussed. This was led by Lester Garrett, chief adjudication officer, George F. Farling, national rehabilitation officer and George Fout, past department commander, all of Cleveland.

After dinner, the afternoon meeting was held in the Junior high school auditorium, and was opened by M. J. Mosbacher, commander of the Louis Kreiter chapter of Galion. He turned the meeting over to Glen Gnagy, commander of the central zone who introduced the distinguished guests and speakers.

Specialties included a fancy drill by the Junior Drill Team of the Little as captain; selections by a chorus of men under the direction of James Smith, and numbers played by Louis Gorton's orchestra of Galion.

CRESTLINE—Mrs. Simon Metzger fell at her home north of Crestline and fractured the small bone of her left leg just above the ankle.

60-Cent Grocery Theft Costs Him 30 Days In Jail

Sixty cents' worth of groceries cost Harry Zembauer, no address, 30 days in jail—and Zembauer didn't even get to keep the groceries.

He was arrested Saturday night after Keith Frary, manager of Buehler's market, West Fourth street, caught him stealing edibles. Frary held him until police arrived.

Zembauer pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to a charge of petit larceny. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch sentenced him to 30 days in county jail.

RECESS ENDS

Petit Jury Convened to Hear $4,100 Damage Suit.

The county petit jury was scheduled to convene this afternoon following a long recess to hear a $4,100 damage case involving a traffic accident in Windsor.

Judge P. H. Wieland of the Morrow county common pleas court will hear the case by special assignment.

The action was brought by Marcus Riggs, 54 Superior street, Mansfield, against Miriam Stauffer, R. D. 2, Mansfield.

Riggs, who received head, chest, and arm injuries in the crash, contends that his car was forced into a tree along route 42 in Windsor when the defendant made a left turn in front of him.

Prosecutor G. W. Marriott and Atty. John C. O'Donnell represent the plaintiff and Atty. Weldon and Huston are the defense counsel.

OK'S TAX RATE

Levy for Crestline School District Approved.

CHESTLINE—The tax rate for next year, as submitted by the county auditor, was approved at a special meeting of the Board of Education held Thursday evening in the school library.

The rate is the same as the past year and applies inside Crestline, and for the rural sections included in the school district. The schools will receive 2.80 mills for debt refunding and six mills for operating expenses.

The board authorized the building and grounds committee to purchase fire escapes for the two lower rooms at the South school building.

MORROW GRAND JURORS CLEAR ELECTION CLERK

Give Mild Criticism to Board But Return No Bill; Seven Others Indicted.

Mt. Gilead—Reporting that although there had been a technical violation of the elections laws they could find no unlawful intent, the Morrow county grand jury issued a mild reprimand Saturday to the Morrow county board of elections as well as to I. B. White, clerk of the board, who had been under fire.

White had been charged by P. J. Kirvin, of Columbus, treasurer of the civil service referendum committee, with violation of the election laws because he checked civil service referendum petitions without calling in the board.

Wants Laws Followed.

White asserted that the board had given him permission to do so. The grand jury reported that they found that members of the board not only permitted the clerk to perform part of their duties but frequently encouraged him to do so. In the future they recommended that the clerk perform his duties as prescribed by law.

Seven indictments were returned and nine cases were ignored by the grand jury. The following indictments were returned.

Truman Fogle, neglect of support of child; Truman Snyder, assault and battery; Charles Cockrell and Paul Wakely of Marion, petty larceny; Mrs. Hazel G. Ling, conducting a lottery; George M. Williams, forgery. Two secret indictments were returned.

The jury had been in session three days, examined 40 witnesses and heard 16 cases. All of those indicted will be arraigned in the common pleas court for hearing next Saturday at 10 a. m.

The jury also examined the case of the death of Merton D. Foster of Fulton south of here 11 years ago. It reported that it had no reasons to make a change in the suicide verdict of the coroner.

More puff per pack...and More Mildness, Coolness, and Flavor with Slower-Burning Camels

FAST BURNING—creates hot flat taste in smoke...ruins delicate flavor, aroma...

SLOW BURNING—protects natural qualities that produce mildness, thrilling taste, fragrance...a cooler smoke...

The costlier tobaccos are slower-burning...milder...cooler...mellower

MANY a smoker has switched to Camels because his value-sense applauded the thrift of getting more puffs per pack. But... That's only one small part of the story of slow burning. You get a lot more than savings! You get extra mildness! Common sense tells you that a fast, fiery, hot-burning cigarette will not smoke comfortably or yield a delicate taste and fragrance. And that slow-burning tobaccos naturally would be mild and mellow. You get extra coolness. You needn't be a scientist to know that the slower tobacco burns, the cooler the smoking. You get extra-fine flavor. Excess heat ruthlessly destroys the subtle elements of flavor and aroma. Slow-burning Camels tell their own taste-tale! So...for thrift and for a smoking thrill...light up a slow-burning Camel!

ASKS FEDERAL PROBE OF WPA SITUATION HERE

Workers Alliance Charges Discrimination, Calls for "House Cleaning."

The Richland County Workers' Alliance, a union of WPA workers, today had requested federal WPA officials to investigate what the Alliance described as "discrimination against WPA workers" in the Mansfield area.

John Sparks, president of the county alliance, said at least 2 county WPA workers would testify that "certain persons had been given jobs on WPA while others, just as deserving, were either dismissed or were unable to find work."

He said workers were discriminated against by "persons who are not connected with WPA."

Hits Outside Interference. "This organization (the Alliance) will not tolerate any dictation from outsiders and we are asking for a federal investigation in an effort to clean house in WPA in Mansfield," Sparks said.

He said the alliance had also asked the federal government to provide more projects for Mansfield and Richland county to employ 100 persons who were thrown out of work by the closing down of two projects in the past week in the city and county.

He referred to the city sidewalk project which employed 75 men and the county woodlot survey project which employed 25. The sidewalk job was finished last week and the other project was discontinued because of lack of funds, Sparks said.

"Every needy person not absorbed by private industry is entitled to a WPA job," Sparks said.

MILLIONAIRE WORKS FOR POOR IN PAYLESS SOCIAL SERVICE JOB

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK—Barkley Henry is a millionaire employee of the poor. He spends at least half of his working week doing the chores that go with the presidency of the Community Service society, the biggest private welfare organization in the world, to which the needy of New York turn in time of trouble. Such a job in business or industry would pay him $25,000 or more a year, for the society's annual budget runs over two and a half million dollars, but here he doesn't collect a cent. Instead, he pays for the privilege.

"I believe," he says, "that people who are lucky enough to have money should spend a large part of their time earning their keep in non-pay work useful to the society which supports them. And there is plenty of it to be done."

Nine out of ten Americans have never heard of him, because he keeps out of the newspapers. Yet he is the son of a Philadelphia banker related to the Drexels, and his wife is Barbara Whitney.

daughter of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the sculptress who founded the Whitney museum of American art and achieved headline fame as the victorious aunt in the multi-million-dollar court fight over heiress Gloria Vanderbilt. Henry looks little like a financier. He appears more like a student of medicine or law. His sober eyes study the world through hornrimmed glasses, with much the same analytical concentration a scientist bestows on his test tubes.

His strong lean frame reveals him as a sportsman. He devotes himself to one major occupation: social service. In the Community Service society, he confers regularly with the administrative staff. He discusses problems with field workers, lends a hand at clinics, invites technicians to dinner at his house. He keeps regular "office hours" at convenient places where anyone interested can see him. At home, far into the night, he reads dry technical reports with an enthusiasm most of us reserve for murder mysteries. "What can a fellow do?" as asked Cornelius N. Bliss, veteran social service leader, when the depression looked deep and dark back in 1931. "You might go down to the unemployment committee headquarters and offer your services," Bliss replied. Next day, Henry was at the headquarters, saying: "Put me to work."

He was 29 then, and looked younger. So they sat him down at a table and told him to answer letters.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1939.

A dog is so dependable—he never wags his tail unless he means it.

Next year's election will be on November 5—and there might be an idea in setting Thanksgiving for the following Thursday.

As nearly as can be judged from this distance, the promoters of that California pension plan haven't had any trouble getting their ham-and-eggs.

Why United States Leads

WHEN reasons are being sought for America's higher living standards, in comparison with those of European countries, the inventive genius of Americans must be taken into account as well as the encouragement of initiative, which has been greater in the United States than anywhere else in the world.

In recording the origin of 230 major inventions affecting social and economic welfare, it is interesting to note that the United States contributed 96, or 41.7 per cent of the total. Other countries are credited as follows: Great Britain, 54; Germany, 28; France, 22; Scotland, 9; Sweden, 6; Italy, 6; Holland, 3; Ireland, 2; China, 2; Australia, Norway and Bohemia one each.

Freedom of thought and action has undoubtedly been an important factor in bringing out the talent of individuals in the United States, with equality of opportunity and a system of public education not found in any other country.

Listed among major inventions which are products of American inventive genius are: The air brake, airplane, cotton gin, electricity, electric light, elevator, phonograph, harvester, ice machine, linotype, moving pictures, fountain pen, double cylinder printing press, radiotelephone, flanged rail, reaper, sewing machine, steamboat, telegraph, telephone, telephotography, trolley car, typewriter, vulcanized rubber, machine made watches, mass production and gasoline.

When it is considered that these accomplishments have come within the relatively brief span of 150 years there is better understanding of the confident prediction that the United States will continue to progress—as rapidly as retarding influences can be overcome by wise leadership and better understanding of mutuality of interests.

Estimating the Cost of War

EVEN with the little fighting that has been going on, it is estimated that the European war is costing about one hundred million dollars a day, not including loss of property and commercial revenue.

Nazi Germany alone is believed to be spending at the rate of twelve billion dollars a year, and Great Britain about as much.

Nazi war expenses for the last six years, according to a recent statement by Hitler, would be about thirty-six billion dollars, probably half as much as the total wealth of Germany.

Anyone might run on and on in this matter of war expenses, but the figures become so astronomical that they cease to mean anything. One clear fact arising from any financial size-up of the situation is that all Europe, except perhaps Russia, is rapidly bankrupting itself by the enormous waste of wealth and human effort and future earnings poured into military purposes.

This sort of waste is, to human wealth and well-being, somewhat as if a long drought should lower the level of the sea. It means a loss of wealth generally, a wiping out of accumulated capital, a shrinkage of values, and then the need of starting over again to build up from a lower level toward general improvement and prosperity.

Night Driving Without Lights

AMONG the common motoring faults at this season of lessening daylight is that of driving without turning on headlights as darkness approaches.

Some motorists do not seem to understand that the law on this subject is associated with the time of sunset, and that this varies greatly at different times of the year.

Driving without lights, even in gathering twilight, endangers pedestrians as well as approaching cars, and any person capable of driving a car should realize that when other drivers begin turning on their lights it is time for him to do likewise.

There is also the matter of driving with only one headlight burning, which has thus far been given little attention in and around Mansfield, but which tends to increase the dangers of night driving.

With the October record for the United States showing more traffic fatalities than in any similar period during the past 18 months, the requirement for strict law enforcement and unceasing vigilance on the part of motorists becomes increasingly clear.

The long stretch of undefended border between the United States and Canada provides a world example of mutual confidence and goodwill.

The "courtesy" call which our bombing planes are now making to South American countries is another evidence of interest and friendship, for, under other circumstances, the implications of such a visit would make it inadvisable.

For those who travel to any extent, a little jaunt to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, either by plane or boat, is now quite simple—so much so that next year's convention of Rotary International is to be held in Rio, with likelihood that several thousand delegates from the United States will take advantage of the opportunity to get better acquainted with our South American neighbors.

Although speaking a different national language, Brazil has in recent years developed a greater liking for the United States, and the same is true of other South American countries, including Argentina, which, for a time, had held somewhat aloof.

As European travel is decreased by war it is not unlikely that more tourists will turn to South America for their longer jaunts, all of which will contribute to friendship and understanding.

Bombers On Friendly Mission

CONDITIONS which brought about the present war in Europe, and which are also responsible for constant friction between nations in other parts of the world, have served to emphasize the importance of better understanding and friendlier relationship between the Americas—North and South.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Such a queer turn has the cotton market taken that in spite of a record world surplus of American cotton, the price may be jacked up a half cent or a cent a pound in the domestic market in the next few months because of a technical shortage.

Under the cotton loan program, which was originally designed to put a floor under prices but now can be used to push them up, the Department of Agriculture has 11,000,000 bales of surplus tied up by loans or outright ownership. This coming year there will be a world demand for 13,500,000 bales of cotton, the department estimates, 7,500,000 bales for this country and 6,000,000 bales abroad.

However, the crop just harvested brought only 11,885,000 bales. That means that more than 1,500,000 bales of American cotton must be found some other place.

Government Will Hold On.

WHERE will this extra cotton come from? Of course, the government could release some of its own cotton to prevent an upward price squeeze—but the government has been trying to get the market to climb and is not likely to push it down, not in 1940.

The cotton will have to come from supplies held by the growers. Of course, they don't actually hold it. They turned it over to the government as security for loans. Last year these loans amounted to 8.3 cents a pound. To get their cotton back out the growers will have to pay the 8.3 cents a pound plus a carrying-storage charge, which makes the total 8.9 cents.

Market specialists have already estimated that few farmers will take their cotton out of loan unless the price reaches 9½ to 10 cents a pound.

Wallace Protests.

THE bureau of the budget got wind of this situation and told Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that of course he wouldn't need any money this year to lend on the current cotton crop since the growers were assured of a price above the probable amount of the government loan.

Wallace had to put up a stout argument against that. He insisted that if the farmer was not assured of at least the "loan price" of his cotton there would be a lot of panicky selling of this year's crop. Moreover, he said, the growers had been promised a loan when they signed up for crop control last year and it was no time to be fooling with such promises. He got the money for the loan and it is fixed at 9 cents for standard grades.

The funny part of it is that in spite of the technical squeeze, the department will find it necessary to continue the export subsidy, possibly even to increase it. Without the subsidy it is likely the expected export of 6,000,000 bales would fall short, which would throw extra cotton on the American market.

GO TO SLEEP, YOU'RE JUST IMAGINING THINGS

Listen, World!

Life Is Only What You Feel.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ALL you get out of life is your own feeling about it. A strange statement? Perhaps you don't believe it. Maybe you're young—excited about those years ahead. You have certain definite ideas about life. You are sure that you can make a success of it, even if others haven't—if you can only get the breaks.

If only you can do what you want to do—if only right things will happen to you—then everything will be jake. For life, you are sure, is the sum total of one's experiences and achievements; and if you have lucky experiences and successful achievements, life is bound to be a happy affair.

Is that what you think? Then you're due for a surprise.

Or maybe you're not so young. Perhaps you have already advanced far into those waiting years, and have had the experiences and achievements you once thought were so essential. But you're bewildered. In spite of fortunate experiences, lucky achievements, happiness hasn't come.

But why should that be? You have some fine possessions, a pleasant home, loved relations, kindly friends—all these good things at a time when others are living shabbily, desperately.

Then why aren't you content? WHY DOES LIFE SEEM STRANGELY EMPTY—UNREAL—LIKE A DREAM WHICH SLIPS THROUGH YOUR FINGERS AS YOU TRY TO GRASP IT?

"Why, I was actually happier when I was poor and struggling," you say to yourself. "When I was young and didn't know where my next meal was coming from, life seemed much more glorious than it does now."

That is true. You WERE happier then. Life WAS more colorful then, BECAUSE YOUR OWN FEELINGS WERE MORE WONDERFUL.

WE GET OUT OF LIFE WHAT WE PUT INTO IT.

Life is as vast or as petty, as exciting or monotonous, as beautiful or ugly, as noble or wretched, as our own feelings about it.

Isn't that what happens to you that counts—for the thing that happens to you isn't really you at all. Nor it is what you achieve that counts—for the thing you achieve is shaped by outward circumstances over which you have no control. And so the thing you achieve isn't really you, either, but it, too, is like a gesture and a dream.

The only thing that counts in life—the only thing that has meaning or reality—the only thing that you really own or can bank on—IS YOUR OWN FEELING ABOUT LIFE.

You can buy countless beautiful articles if you have enough money—BUT YOU CAN ONLY EXPERIENCE BEAUTY IF YOU FEEL BEAUTY.

You can become popular and beloved if you have what it takes—BUT YOU CAN ONLY EXPERIENCE LOVE IF YOU FEEL LOVE, IF YOU GIVE LOVE.

You can acquaint yourself with the brave and splendid mysterious and exciting phases of life by reading about them, traveling, meeting adventurous people—YET LIFE WILL STILL REMAIN DRAB AND DREARY UNLESS THERE ARE COURAGE AND CURIOSITY IN YOUR OWN HEART.

Life isn't what you do or what you have. LIFE IS ONLY WHAT YOU FEEL, AND YOU CAN FEEL WHAT YOU CHOOSE TO FEEL.

But nobody else can help you with that feeling or enter into it. Even your nearest and dearest cannot become a part of it. Life is your own inner secret "stream of consciousness" for which you alone are responsible—which you alone enjoy or despise.

Timely Editorial

Hunting Hazards.

While it may be that the hunting accident toll this season is low, considering the large number of hunters there are afield, the blunt fact is there should be no such thing as a hunting accident.

Carelessness is the cause of such accidents. There are too many hunters out in the fields and woods who do not realize the danger of firearms and are utterly inexperienced in their usage.

The careless hunter is a menace to himself and a greater menace to the lives of others. There are times when we think it would be a good thing if there were some provision for suspending the license of a hunter who is caught flagrantly violating rules of safety.—Ohio State Journal.

Ohio Anecdotes

Great Trees.

MENTION of trees of enormous proportions is found frequently in early writings of adventurers into the wilds of the Ohio country, particularly the Muskingum and Scioto valleys.

Dr. Mannasseh Cutler, prime mover of the Ohio Company, was so impressed by the enormity of the so-called "Great Tree" outside Campus Martius (Marietta) that he was prompted to make the following entry in his journal:

"We took a walk out at sunset, as far as the Great Tree. We measured the circumference as near the ground as possible so as to take in all the bulges, and made it 46½ feet. The inside of the tree was not only hollow, but burnt, so there was only a thin shell."

The record further revealed that were the tree cut off two feet above the ground that 64 men could have stood within the area. He wrote, six horsemen could have ridden abreast.

But I'm sending this letter back to Mr. L. A. Van Bomel, of Sheffield Farms, because he must have made a mistake. Maybe there's a Tucker somewhere in Manhattan who writes a dairy column—you know, "Here's Milk in Your Eye" or "The Cream of the Cow." He couldn't have meant this one for me.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The attempt to transfer eight United States Lines vessels to the Panama flag is now a closed book, but there are two significant incidents which have not yet leaked out.

One was the fact that Panama herself took a very decided stand against permitting the ships to fly her flag. Panama made it quite clear that transfer of the ships was likely to get her snarled up with Germany, and that her neutrality status must be similar to that of the United States.

If the United States could not risk sending these vessels into the war zone, Panama said that she did not want to do so. This clinched the argument within the administration.

The other unrevealed incident was the fact that Cordell Hull, who later fought the transfer, actually had OK'd it, and in writing. His letter is still in the hands of the maritime commission.

What happened was that Admiral Land, chairman of the commission, telephoned the secretary of state at 4:30 on the afternoon before the Commission put out its own favorable statement. Hull read his letter over the telephone and later mailed it. Having received this state department OK, the Maritime Commission proceeded to approve the transfer.

However, it turned out later that Mr. Hull had not thoroughly understood the proposal, or else it was not carefully explained to him. Some of Hull's assistants go so far as to say that the Maritime Commission was deliberately deceptive. At any rate, Mr. Hull changed his mind.

Perhaps it was the emphatic position taken by Panama which helped to change it.

Senatorial Courtesy.

PRONOUNCED a new child prodigy violinist by musical critics of the Capital, Betty Jane Atkinson of Pittsburgh played before several private audiences in Washington recently. Among these were the leaders of the National Symphony and Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, publisher of the Times-Herald.

Mrs. Patterson also arranged for the 16-year-old violinist to play two numbers at a prominent Washington restaurant where she was entertaining a distinguished gathering. Most of those dining in the restaurant were enraptured. But from one table came loud and raucous conversation.

Chief conversationalist was Senator Tom Connally of Texas. For him, apparently, the neutrality debate still continued. Other guests listening to the violinist glanced pointedly in his direction, but the senator talked on.

Finally, Mrs. Patterson went to the Senator's table and whispered: "Please, Senator. There is to be just this last number. She is very young. Would you mind . . ."

But the Senator did mind. Waving one arm, he declaimed: "What does this mean? Interfering with my dinner! Proprietor! Proprietor! Show this lady out—if she is a lady."

New Mead Bill.

EVIDENCE of their aggressive-ness was Mead's introduction of a new bill during the last days of the special session, after an unpunctuated meeting with little business leaders. It would create an industrial loan corporation, financed by the federal reserve, to make moderate loans, to buy preferred stock, or to assist private underwriters to float small-business securities.

The corporation's capital would be the $139,000,000 set aside four years ago for industrial loans by the federal reserve—and practically untouched. The federal reserve's record in helping little business men is also very sketchy.

Note—Senator Bob Wagner, chairman of the banking committee and a strong supporter of the Mead bill, privately has agreed to begin hearings on it in December before congress opens.

Senator Taft.

WHETHER or not you agree with Bob Taft, you have to admit that he has a sense of humor. Sitting at dinner beside an old friend who had not seen him since he entered the senate, Taft remarked:

"They say I've improved, Doris, but I'm just the same as I ever was."

Indian Summer

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SAW the new day come out of the east. Like slow and steady rhythm it seemed to move, and nearer stars began to fade and go to rest. Silently more light filled the entire eastern sky, until in one climactic moment, the tip of the sun showed, large and red, through haze and intervening trees. The mighty disk rose, perceptibly into a crisp and cloudless sky. Light frost was melted into gleaming sprays of dew. The wood smoke from the neighbors chimneys curled blue and lazily upon the frosty air. I caught the fragrance of our own hearth fire mingled with the morning freshness.

A song sparrow perched upon a frosty twig, and even before sunup, poured forth its song. A half hour later, from a post, a meadow lark rose high into the air, and sang while flying. The killdeer winged its course above the meadow with wild outcries, while the whited inner surface of its graceful wings gleamed in the sunshine.

Tall goldenrod in neglected fields stood brown and seared, a useless waste upon the land. Asters, too, were gone, except two little sprays that were bent close to a bank of warm, moist earth—these were white, and fresh and bore the delightful odor of early autumn. Not four feet away, I noticed three clean, yellow heads of dandelion,

FAMILY TRADITIONS MARK LIMA WEDDING

Miss Bettybelle Gilmore, John F. Daley, jr. Married
At Altar of St. Rose Catholic Church
Saturday Morning.

FAMILY traditions surrounded the marriage of Miss Bettybelle Gilmore, Lima, and John F. Daley, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Daley, 470 West Third street, Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at the St. Rose Catholic church in Lima. When Rt. Rev. Msgr. James S. Elder officiated for the solemn ceremony the bride wore Mrs. Daley's wedding gown. The dress, which the senior Mrs. Daley wore for her wedding Nov. 4 1914 was made of ivory satin in the train style. It was fastened with a short shoulder cape and lace yoke.

The same lace decorated with pearls was inserted in the bodice and she wore a net veil edged with Italian lace, and held in position with a pearl tiara. Her only ornament was a diamond lavalier which belonged to her mother. She carried a bouquet of white bouvardia and gardenias, and a garland of the same flowers reached to the end of her train.

The former Miss Gilmore who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gilmore, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Helen, who as maid of honor wore a floor-length rose taffeta gown. Mulberry velvet ribbon decorated her small pillbox hat, and matching ribbon tied her bouquet of chrysanthemums and Token roses. Miss Doris, another sister, was bridesmaid and she wore a deep blue taffeta gown. Her accessories were in rose and her flowers were rose chrysanthemums tied with magenta velvet.

Given by Brother.

The church altar before which Miss Gilmore's brother, William, gave her in marriage, was decorated with baskets of golden chrysanthemums. Banded greenery decorated the main and side altars, which were lighted with tall cathedral candles. Miss Gilmore and Mr. Daley were wedded with the bride's mother's wedding ring.

William Frasz, of this city was best man, and Eugene Sprague, Louis McCrater and Robert Coffey, all of Lima were the ushers.

Miss Marjorie Quinn played the organ music and the mass was sung by the girls' choir. Mrs. Daley, mother of the bridegroom, appeared at the wedding in a tuscany grape costume with matching accessories, and wore a gardenia corsage.

After the ceremony 90 guests were entertained at breakfast at the Norval hotel and then Mr. and Mrs. Daley left for a southern trip. For traveling she was attired in a green wool frock with matching accessories and a beaver jacket. Upon their return to Mansfield they will be at home at the West Third street address.

Informally Speaking...

Monday, Nov. 20.

Lucy, dear:

Well, this is more like it—November, I mean—the sky is overcast and the wind is quite chilly. . . . But it's rather nice to have seasonal weather—especially since the downtown Christmas decorations are up and ready to be lighted Friday. A little snow to further the holiday spirit might even be appreciated.

Marianne

The most exciting news today, Lucy, is the announcement of a marriage in Torrance, Cal. . . . On Nov. 14, Helene Frances Scholl became the bride of Orrin E. Staden. . . . Helene, you probably recall, moved to Torrance with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Scholl, just about a year ago—She was employed here at the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company before going west. . . . And in case you want to send her your best wishes, Helen and her husband will be living at 1618 Beech avenue in Torrance.

WAS talking with Mrs. G. C. Endly this morning about her recent trip out west—and from the sound of it, Lucy, she really had a wonderful time. . . . She and Catherine Fry went out and back by train and while there, they traveled over 3,000 miles by auto—visiting all the places of interest—San Francisco and the Golden Gate expo, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Seattle, the Redwoods and innumerable picturesque little lakes. . . . And now as soon as she can manage, Mrs. Endly is planning to go to Flushing, L. I. to get a peek at her new granddaughter, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Enly (she was the former Elizabeth Davey). . . . By the way, they call the baby Sally though she was christened Sarah Jane.

This week will probably bring a lot of college students back to town for the Thanksgiving recess. . . . Susan Bell Paste will arrive tomorrow evening for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Paste. . . . Sue is coming up from Ohio university in Athens (where she's a sophomore) and bringing along her roommate, Annette Stuber of Port Huron, Mich. . . . Annette is also a pledge of Sue's sorority, Chi Omega. . . . The girls are planning to stay over Saturday for the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Sue's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Paste of Belleville.

INCIDENTALLY Lucy, the Pastes' anniversary really isn't until Dec. 18 but they're planning to observe it with open house for relatives and friends this coming Saturday as they're leaving on the 28th of this month for St. Cloud, Fla. to spend the winter.

Cadet Bill Burke, who is attending the Morgan Park Military academy in Chicago, Ill., is planning to spend the holiday weekend with his father, V. Burke, in Kansas City, Mo. . . . Bill has been a member of the heavyweight football squad and has earned a gold football—emblematic of membership on the squad which has won the mid-west prep championship. . . . And that's not all, Lucy, Bill is corporal in the military organization, and his name has appeared on the Academy honor roll this fall.

YOU'LL be glad to know, Lucy, that one of our former residents has returned home to stay. . . . Betty Thompson attended business school in Chicago Ill. following her graduation from Northwestern university in June 1938, and since then she's been employed in an insurance office and a lawyer's office in that city. . . . But she's back here with her mother, Mrs. K. J. Thompson, now and is working in one of our downtown shops. . . . So you'd better hurry over to welcome her home.

Speaking of former residents, A. C. Lantz has just arrived in town, and from now on, he'll make his permanent home at 10 Willow street. . . . He's been living in Honolulu, Hawaii for the past five years, you know—he was affiliated with the Republic Utility company there.

MR. and Mrs. Frank Gessner, jr., left Friday for Annapolis, Md. where they plan to spend a week visiting with his parents and friends.

Quite a number of Mansfielders were in Columbus Saturday to see the Ohio State-Illinois game, which put our team right out in front so far as the Big Ten championship is concerned. . . . Betty Hammel, Mary Cox, Barney Burns, Jay Small, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kuntz were among those present.

Seems as though I had quite a bit of news for you today, Lucy, so I'll be expecting the same from you by return mail. Lovingly,

Marianne

Two Guests Attend Auxiliary Meeting

Mrs. Paul Caraway, Mrs. Ray Pickens and Mrs. Agnes Bainhart of Akron were guests at a meeting of the Auxiliary to the 37th Division, A. E. F., Saturday evening at the American Legion home. There were 20 members present, and Mrs. Ralph Schadt received a past president's pin. Mrs. Donald Leuthner was in charge of the social hour.

The group is planning to have a Christmas party with the 37th Division.

Foot Fashions

A 1939 version of the boot is designed with an open shank.

This new edition of the Collier's Oxford is carried out in calf.

Be Smart, Comfortable, Gay

Plaid shirt and cap in tones of red, blue and white give a different look to this suit of navy blue wool gabardine. The narrow instructor-trousers are topped by a double-breasted jacket designed with an under-arm insert to prevent pulling when in action. The mittens are red wool.

Crestline Members Hostesses For Auxiliary Luncheon

MRS. V. Q. STAUFFER, Forest, and Mrs. E. W. Stutzlen, Loudonville, delegates to the national convention of the Women's Auxiliary to the Railway Mail association which was held in Pittsburgh, Pa., reported Saturday afternoon when the Crestline branch met for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Blue Lantern. There were 22 members and 12 guests present.

A Thanksgiving program was presented by Mrs. F. E. Speelman and Mrs. R. E. Culler. Hostesses included Mrs. Bert Ogle, Mrs. C. E. Jones, Mrs. C. V. King and Mrs. T. H. McCreary. The holiday party which was scheduled for Dec. 28 will be held sometime after the first of the year in the form of a covered-dish dinner, it was announced today. The next regular meeting will be held Jan. 20 at 12:30 p. m. in Mansfield. Hostesses will be Mrs. Culler, Mrs. E. S. Ibrag, Mrs. D. K. Maglott, Mrs. E. G. Giffin, and Mrs. H. D. Ackerman. Mrs. C. B.

VARIED ACTIVITIES SEEN THIS WEEK-END

George Berge Celebrate Wedding Anniversary;
Social Organizations Conduct Parties
For Members, Guests.

VARIED activities including the celebration of a wedding anniversary and several club parties served to entertain Mansfield residents over the past week-end. Some of the social functions are recorded here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Berg, South Foster street, held open house yesterday, and entertained 25 relatives at dinner in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. Mrs. Berg, who was Madam Keil before her marriage, became the wife of George Berg at the St. Paul Lutheran Parsonage on Nov. 19, 1914. They are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Roy Henry and Marjorie.

Among the guests at the party yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gunkel and son, Chicago, Ill., Mrs. George Berg, Elmhurst, Ill., Miss Florence Keil and Mrs. John Keil, sister and mother of Mrs. Berg from Shelby, L. Hook, Willard, and John and Harold Henry, Shelby. The couple was presented with a number of gifts. Henry Berg, brother of George, who served as best man at the couple's wedding, was also present.

A four-course 6 o'clock dinner was served Saturday evening to members of the Birthday club when Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Andrews, Wood street, entertained. The table was colorfully decorated with Thanksgiving appointments, and centered with a long tray filled with autumn fruits.

Games were played, and prizes were given to Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McHugh. Mrs. Alta Chapman, Wellington, a guest, was also presented with a prize. The next meeting will be held in December with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell, Bowman street. The affair will be a Christmas party and gift exchange.

There were 35 members, husbands and guests of the Italian Social club present last night for the party which celebrated the 8th anniversary of the group at John's park. Bob King's orchestra played for dancing, and a luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. John Villella, Miss James Villella and Miss Ann Digregoria. Mrs. James Villella, Miss Violet Digregoria, Mrs. Joseph Spancato and Mrs. Charles Smith were initiated into the club at the social affair.

Sense of Humor Needed In Marriage

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
If you're thinking about marriage and want to live "happily ever after," how is your sense of humor?

Far more important than your tulle veil, ivory satin gown, (or striped gray trousers, if you happen to be the groom) is your sense of humor. Things are bound to happen which are destructive of temper, and prompt what is known as "passing the buck," and doing a little bawling out, though the partner of your joys and sorrows may not be in the least involved.

To repeat a formula which the American Eugenics Society bequeathed to those about to marry, some ten years ago:

"Marry a creatively intelligent good sport," and continuing in the same vein, the President of the Society stated: "The most valuable qualities parents should hand down to their children,—qualities which would make the pattern of the coming man, are: Mental efficiency, creative intelligence, good sportsmanship—and a sense of humor."

The real rams of history, like the real rams of everyday life, have not been the great beauties but the women who could turn dull, commonplace happenings of everyday life into laughter.

Take for instance, Nell Gwynn, a street gamine, who sold oranges around the theaters and captured the heart of England's Charles II. Nell was no beauty, as her portraits reveal today. But she could make Charles laugh. And today one of the proudest of English dual houses claims "witty Nell," the orange peddler, as its ancestress.

Cleopatra, greatest of all vamps, showed a delicious sense of humor when she ordered someone to dive into the stream where her lover, Mark Anthony, was fishing, and attach a salt fish to the hook.

Our own erratic painter, Whistler, who had an impish sense of fun, was devoted to the wife who went him one better in the quip and jest game and had an inspired sense of humor.

Sometimes I get letters from correspondents asking me how a sense of humor can be cultivated. I'm afraid it can't. It's just a gift of the gods, like naturally wavy hair or a peaches and cream complexion. But everyone can pretend to this gift by not taking material things tragically. They can learn to "laugh it off." Remember the words of wisdom in that poem "Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone."

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, November 21.
Propitious astral influences indicate a day of excellent opportunity, with promotion, preferment, pleasure and the rich fulfillment of ambitious objectives. This benefic influence obtains in all departments of life—social, romantic, cultural and commercial. Employers, superiors and those in high places are ready to stand by generously. Big business, political, diplomatic or fraternal groups will be found approachable.

Those whose birthday it is may be delighted by the assurance that things should move along "in a big way" during the year, culminating in the attainment of high objectives in all realms of activity and aspiration. Friendship, promotion, preferment esteem as well as many phases of personal happiness and advancement, may be sought with confidence. Romantic adventures, expanding fortunes and spiritual gratifications loom large.

A child born on this day may have a warm, expansive, generous, sympathetic, charitable impulses, high aspirations and ideals, all combining to lift it to success, prosperity and pleasant places in life.

Loosens Stopper

If the glass stopper in that prized bottle of perfume resists your attempts to remove it, simply place a few drops of glycerine around the stopper to loosen it quickly and easily.

Stuffed fish steaks: Select 2 steaks of medium size. Spread one steak with a highly seasoned rice or bread stuffing. Cover with the other, top with melted butter, seasoning, and a little lemon juice. Serve hot with tomato sauce.

Young Mothers! Do What Your Mother Did About COUGHING COLDS

3 Out of 5 Mothers Use This Home-Proved Treatment
You are right to worry when a cold strikes your family. You should take steps, at once, to relieve the misery and suffering. But you want to be sure that what you do is really helpful. You don't want to take needless risks. Now here is what most mothers do. They use Vicks VapoRub. Since 1895 Vicks and their doctors have studied ways to treat the distressing symptoms of colds. Today three out of five mothers are benefiting by this forty-year study of colds when they use VapoRub and let its amazing poultice-vapor action go to work. PROFIT BY THEIR EXPERIENCE. Do this. If it's a coughing cold, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a pan of boiling water, and breathe in the soothing, medicated vapors. Then massage Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back and go to bed.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON
Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I know, girl," she murmured. "It's awful. But wait! Just because she says it, doesn't make it true. Look! Ed's going to say something. If we can't hear her, I'll read her lips and tell you. Are you ready, Harry?"

Harry All Set.
"On the job," her big husband drawled without turning his head, and both their services were needed because no further word of the colloquy was audible to us. But Edith's gestures and her face were eloquent. She made no reply to the woman at all, but turned to Dicky, putting out her hand gropingly, as if she could not see him.

"Dicky," she faltered "There's—a certain amount of truth in what she says."

"I'll tell the cock-eyed world there is," the woman said triumphantly.

Without turning his eyes, which were fixed on Edith's face, Dicky uttered two words: "Keep quiet!"

"You do not need to tell me anything, Edie, if you don't want to," he said gently. "After all, you have just saved the whole situation marvelously."

"But if I hadn't started it, there wouldn't have been any situation to be saved," she said. "But though I was half crazy before I went away, and said some stupid things to this woman, I didn't dream they'd dare go so far. I never planned all the things they've attempted to put over on you. I just wanted to—but I suppose you know what I was trying to do."

"Dicky on the wire," Lillian whispered, and then she repeated his words.

"What does it matter?" he said. "Just relax now, and keep quiet. No matter what is said to you. I'll handle this now."

He turned to the woman, and looked her over with amused contempt in his eyes.

RISKS NECESSARY

Those who like to make No Trump games—and who doesn't!—must take a certain number of risks in the bidding. If you have plenty of strength in three suits, counting that which your partner has shown, and no particular shortness in any suit to produce ruffing values, you are usually better off to try for a No Trump game than a minor, depending on your partner to have some kind of stoppers in the fourth suit. Unless you are willing to do this upon occasion you will see some nice games lost.

As it happened, every possible finesse worked and so South, who tried them all, made 6-No Trumps, losing to only the spade A. An examination of the situation shows that not even the game could have been made if West held East's cards and vice versa. A club lead would have held South to five tricks in diamonds, one in clubs and one in hearts, putting him down two tricks. But if either the spade or heart situation was favorable, game was in the cards and should be bid.

SEA WARFARE TOLL HITS NINE FOR WEEK-END

Naval Authorities Count Loss of 16 Ships in 9 Days; Nazi Mines Hit by British.

26 of the Yugoslav freighter Carica Milica all had reached an English port.

The victims of North Sea mines were the Borjesson, from which seven were missing; the Simon Bolivar, 150 missing; the Black-hill, unknown number missing; the Grazia, five dead, unknown number missing; the Carica Milica;
the Kaunas, one dead; the Torch-bearer, seven missing.

British authorities believed the plague of mines meant that the U-boats had been having such a lean time raiding shipping that they had resorted to dumping mines indiscriminately.

Adrift in Pairs?

Survivors of some of the ships believed the mines were adrift in pairs, chained together, so that if ships struck the chains the mines hit them on both sides.
Capt. C. Knudsen of the 11,088-ton Danish steamer Canada, sunk last week, raised another theory testifying before a court of marine inquiry at Copenhagen. He believed the Canada had struck a magnetic mine.

The greatest disaster by far was the sinking of the Dutch liner Simon Bolivar Saturday. The ship's agency here estimated that 400 were aboard. There were only 250 survivors listed so far. More than 140 were missing. Women, children, even babies, were among the bedraggled survivors and also, presumably, among the dead. Of the 250 who survived, 170 were crowded in the Great Eastern hostel at London; 49 were at Harwich; 17 at Dover Court and 14 at Colchester. Many were badly injured.

Other Casualties.

The other ships lost and their casualties:
The 1,586-ton Swedish ship Bo
Borjesson; seven missing.
The 2,492-ton British ship
Blackhill; possibly some missing.
The 5,857-ton Italian ship Grazia; five killed; unknown number missing.

The 637-ton Yugoslav freighter Carica Milica, fate of the crew unknown.

The 1,530-ton Lithuanian steamer Taunas; one dead.

British sources said all ships were sunk by German mines.

(In Berlin, German newspapers said just as emphatically that the Simon Bolivar struck a British mine. Authorities said the German admiral's investigation and accordingly, there were no German mines where the Simon Bolivar went down, just off the English coast, and that it was impossible for any German mine to have drifted there.)

The Bolivar left Amsterdam
Friday night, en route to Paramaribo, Dutch Guinea, and struck the mine at 1:35 p. m. Most survivors said there were two explosions. J. H. Wisters, cloak room steward, who told of seeing the ship's master, Capt. H. Voorspuyl, lying dead on his back on deck,
his face swollen, said the first explosion seemed to "lift the ship out of the water."

BLAST KILLS BOY

MARION—A—Explosion of a gasoline cook stove left 11-year-old Frederick Gates dead today and his parents and a sister in a hospital with severe burns.

Wed Sunday at Galion Church

GALION—Wearing a white satin gown with full skirt and sweeping train, long sleeves, puffed at the shoulders, Thelma Ruth Kunkel, elders daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Kunkel of Galion, became the bride of Clayton C. Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stevenson, also of this city, in an impressive service at First Lutheran church here Sunday afternoon.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore with her wedding gown a single strand of pearls which had been a gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal veil was finger-tip length with a virgin veil. White roses were used in the shower bou-quet she carried.
Fifteen minutes before the single ring ceremony which was read by Rev. Harry R. Merle, the church organist, Althea Ness, played a program of nuptial selections and Lohengrin's wedding march for the processional.
Jeanne Kunkel was her sister's maid of honor. Stewart Bovenizer of Akron, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was best man.
The church was filled with invited guests for the ceremony who were ushered to their places by Foster Stevenson of Shelby, brother of the bridegroom, and Richard Auld of Galion, a close friend of the couple.
A reception and buffet lunch was held at the home of the bride's parents after the wedding.
Mr. Stevenson and his bride are taking a wedding trip to points of interest in the south.
They will make their future home at 408 East Patterson avenue, Bellefontaine.

Registration Gets Under Way
for Next Primary.

With the November municipal election out of the way, the county election board today had opened the registration period for the primary election next May 7.

Mansfield citizens of voting age may register or transfer at the board of elections office in the courthouse basement until April 9, or 28 days before the May election.

Registration has not been permitted since early in October when activities were halted because of the November election.

Election board attaches said registration is required of persons who have failed to vote at the last two general elections or who will vote for the first time next May.

20 LOSE LIVES IN OHIO TRAFFIC

Week-End Toll Heaviest in Months as Rain and Fog Increase Accidents.

26 West Arch street, and Mc-Millan was a passenger in a car driven by Earl Neel, Mansfield, police reported.

Among the northcentral Ohio traffic victims was William Roberts, 28, Columbus salesman, who was fatally injured when his car skidded on a slippery road and turned over three times near Marion.

Frederick Gates, 11, was burned to death at Marion when a gasoline stove exploded in his home. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gates and his sister, Mary Etta, 13, were burned while beating out the flames.

When a car struck a tree near
Mt. Vernon, Edward T. Clemmons, 38, and his cousin, Onda Clemmons, 20, both colored, of Columbus were killed.

Harry Strawman, 55, a taxicab proprietor, was killed when he was struck by a car as he walked across route 20 at Fremont.

A head-on collision of two cars in a heavy fog near London claimed the life of Josephine Garbato, 22, of Rochester, N. Y.

An explosion that followed a head-on collision at Willoughby killed William H. Martin, 45, of Thompson, and his daughter Marion, 18, Painesville high school senior.

The village of Bedford chalked up its first traffic fatality of the year when Felix Stefanczyk, 64, was killed by an automobile as he walked in the road.

A piece of the flywheel of a corn sheller flew off and killed 11-year-old Arden Morehart of Mr. Blanchard, Hancock county, while he was playing with the machine in his uncle's barn.

DESTROYS BARN

Fire Hits Farm South of City,
Grain, Horse and Cow Lost.

Fire of undetermined origin early Sunday destroyed a large four-year-old barn on the John Maurer farm five miles south of Mansfield.

A horse, one cow and a quantity of hay and grain were lost in the flames which had gained so much headway when neighbors saw the fire that only a little of the barn's contents could be removed. The blaze was discovered shortly before 1 a. m.

Maurer said a part of the loss was covered by insurance, although he had no estimate of the amount of the loss. The barn was only four years old.

Not So Strong

Col. Batista . . . Cuba's
"strong man" . . . lost some of his strength in yesterday's election, when the opposition gained representation in the government.

Defeat of Government Parties Dims Presidential Chances of 'Strong Man.'

Batista's presidential candidacy has not been announced but has generally been believed in the offing. In a recent political speech he extolled Cuba's friendly relations with the United States but blamed the abandonment of the sugar quota system by the United States for economic straits here.
He is the former army sergeant who rose to power in the confused political situation that followed the overthrow of the Machado regime.

BREAKS LEG IN TRAFFIC MISHAP

SHELBY—James Gates, 55 Second street, was in Memorial hospital here today suffering from a broken right leg. Gates, returning home from work Saturday, was injured when he walked into the side of a moving car driven by Roland Stentz, Shelby R. D.

spectators except newspaper men over Sabbath's protests, ruled that the attorney's questioning of Irving William Hest, Dewey accountant, was "wholly immaterial."

"Under the law," he said, "if the district attorney's men committed burglary they might be convicted of burglary, but the evidence they obtained, no matter how, is admissible.

He said, however, that the jury might consider whether the conduct of the raid affected the witness' credibility.

In moving for a mistrial, Sab-batino asserted it had ceased to be a public trial.

"This is a public trial," Wallace replied. "The press is here and such members of the public as in my opinion can maintain order."

Hest testified that he went to bund headquarters on instructions that "suspected larceny" was involved. He and others removed 16 boxes of records, he said. He added that he examined the records for evidence that the city
sales tax law had been violated, but Judge Wallace informed the jury that no indictment had resulted from that phase of the investigation.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME AT AGE 56

cepted the German planes over the North sea.

After turning back the Germans the British planes patrolled the area more than an hour before returning to their bases.

Meanwhile, a Reuters dispatch from Copenhagen told of a recent battle between four British cruisers and 10 German bombers west of Bergen, Norway. The Danish newspaper National Tidende quoted the captain of the steamer Disco as saying he and his crew witnessed the battle.

"The planes dropped at least 100 bombs," the captain was quoted as saying. "While I did not see the missiles, I counted the water spouts.

"The cruisers replied with anti-aircraft fire. I saw shells bursting around the German machines.
It appeared one of them was hit.
It began to fly low and it seemed it would almost be forced to descend to the water. The other bombers fled. It appeared the cruisers escaped unscathed."

"Tripl-life saved building new fires"

$2 A WEEK Will Buy A Williamson Tripl-life

The Williamson Heater Company:
Our Williamson Tripl-life furnace has been my best friend. We have had it for two years and it has given us little or no trouble. I fire it in the morning and when I return at noon it is still warm in the house
(we have 11 rooms) and the fire was still going strong.
At six in the evening it was the same. It spared me a lot of fire-making.
